

Start with a pairing people know.

Celebrity Match / a visual starting point for a post, video or conversation.

Try two celebrities

Open figureusout.com/explore and choose two public celebrities. Public celebrity pairings need no sign-in. Show the actual result, one chart difference and a few reveal cards.

Just for fun. Celebrity profiles are estimates; these matches don't predict a real relationship.

Want to try your own celebrity matches?

Take the free assessment and save your results with email, then compare yourself with a public celebrity. You can also invite your partner for a free couples comparison. Exact personality types and the full written couples guide are part of the paid package.

A simple 30-60 second format

Hook: "How would these two get along?"

Show: their names, an actual result and one chart difference.

Reveal: one or two "Who's more likely to..." cards.

React: share what surprised you or what you disagree with.

Invite: "Who should I try next?" Share your personal Celebrity Match link.

Four ideas to try

1. An unexpected public-celebrity duo.
2. A public-celebrity pairing suggested in your comments.
3. Keep one celebrity selected and change the other.
4. After saving your own assessment results, compare yourself with a celebrity.

Keep your reaction honest. Do not present estimates as verified profiles or as endorsements by the people shown.

Words you can adapt

Replace bracketed placeholders before posting; keep the affiliate disclosure nearby.

Pick two celebrities and see how their estimated personalities compare. Want to try your own? Take the free assessment and save your results with email first.

Use [CELEBRITY LINK] for the public-play invitation or [FREE LINK] when the whole post invites people to understand themselves through the free assessment.

Keep the experiences clear

Celebrity Match: estimated public celebrity pairings, just for fun. Self-to-celebrity comparisons require an assessment and results saved with email.

Free experience: four personal chapters, personality charts and a couples comparison; no payment details needed.

Couples package: exact personality types, two full personal guides, your full couples guide, downloadable PDFs, a printable 12-week workbook, and AI chat with 100 replies per person.

Help customers use your offer

Use your personal links from the affiliate library. A plain activity URL or copied pair URL does not replace your affiliate link. Share your assigned code too and ask customers to check the discount before paying.

Regular price: $35 for both. An eligible $10 discount makes it $25 before applicable tax. One payment. No subscription. You earn $10 on an eligible first paid purchase; free activity visits do not earn commission.
